

Connected problems along life expectancy - General trends in the world and Georgia

Giga Mzhavanadze

e-mail: giga.mzhavanadze847@ens.tsu.ge

Department of Geography, Faculty of Exact and Natural Sciences, Iv. Javakishvili Tbilisi State University,
I. Chavchavadze pr. #3, 0179 Tbilisi

Life expectancy is one of the important components for healthy populations and long aging. Since 1960 world has been characterized by an increasing in life expectancy, which is distinguished by developed countries, where this unit is very high.

The reason for this, along with the development of the state, is population behavior and environment, in which human lives. In Georgia on the people's life expectancy has a great impact infant mortality, which compared to developed countries is high.